

Group Purchasing

Maximize your procurement with purchasing opportunities for groups.

CivicEye offers opportunities for prosecution offices and law enforcement agencies to embrace the power and benefits of group procurement by purchasing from our software portfolio as a group. By purchasing as a group, your criminal justice agencies can benefit from a centralized platform to promote efficient collaboration across districts, circuits, and jurisdictions.

Group purchasing and procurement can benefit criminal justice agencies through discounted pricing and synchronized purchasing decisions. While many agencies will still have to get approval for their own procurement, group purchasing and procurement can equip groups with streamlined and coordinated implementation efforts that align with your agencies' needs.

Set up an informational call today to learn how CivicEye can create a customized timeline, cost, and proposal to best suit your group's needs.

Core Benefits

Standardize Data Collection

- Implement software collectively and create best practices for sharing data across agencies.
- Use standardized data to improve data quality and reduce errors.

Maximize Interoperability

- Work with our team to configure software to your local agencies' specific needs.
- Improve data exchange across both law enforcement and prosecution offices.

Pay Less, (Get More)

- Access bulk discounts and/or reduced licensing fees with collective purchases.
- Streamline procurement with centralized purchasing processes.

Improve Access to Regional Data

- Centralize data across agencies to comprehensively access regional data.
- Leverage this regional data to make informed decisions and effectively allocate resources.

The collectives we serve across the United States are truly stepping into the future of case and records management. Collective agreements are uniquely preparing their criminal justice agencies to better share data, standardize data input, and ultimately, enhance justice.

Joshua South
President, CivicEye

CivicEye is proud to support statewide agreements like the Tennessee District Attorneys General Conference. In TN, CivicEye provides all district attorneys' offices with prosecutor case management software.

Reach out to our team for further information and/or assistance with government technology purchasing, or visit www.civiceye.com to learn more.